Grey House Publishing Canada Announces its Acquisition of Canadian Who's Who

Grey House Publishing Canada is pleased to announce its acquisition of Canadian Who's Who from Third Sector Publishing. Grey House will continue to publish Canadian Who's Who in both print and online versions. Its strong editorial team will ensure biographies remain current, relevant, and remain the go-to resource for information on notable Canadians. This work has been published since 1910 and has captured the achievements of thousands of distinguished Canadian professionals, such as artists, politicians, public servants, academics, and individuals who have stood out in the worlds of business, law, health, literature, philanthropy, sports and the media. Individuals must be set apart by their own merit and be recommended by another individual or chosen by the editors for inclusion.

"I'm pleased that our house has acquired this title and our team looks forward to providing carefully researched biographies that have made this title an important resource for so many public, academic, business and personal libraries," says Bryon Moore, General Manager of Grey House Publishing Canada.

"We are happy to see the title in the hands of a reputable Canadian publisher of long standing. The title can only improve with the expertise and experience of Grey House," says Anderson Charters, Publisher of Canadian Who's Who since 2011.

Customers will have access to both the print and the online versions of this title and have exclusive access to the biographies of these notable Canadians. The print edition of Canadian Who's Who 2014-2015 contains over 12,600 entries, while the online edition gives users access to 24,000 biographies, including 13,000 current listings and 11,000 archived biographies dating back to 1999. Each listing can contain information such as name, profession, date of birth, a list of achievements and the dates associated with each, languages spoken, contact information, and charming personal details like hobbies and interests.

Please contact Bryon Moore at 416-644-1914 or bmoore@greyhouse.ca for pricing and subscription information, and to learn more about how you can start taking advantage of this title and what its editions have to offer.
