Associations Canada is an essential library and business resource that offers opportunity and guidance for success in a wide range of areas.

Don't miss the opportunity to have this new edition go to work for you!

Insider Information at Your Fingertips:

Associations are the go-to sources for what is trending, what is about to come on the scene, market outlooks, salary surveys, and more. Knowing who to contact for immediate and up-to-date information is key.

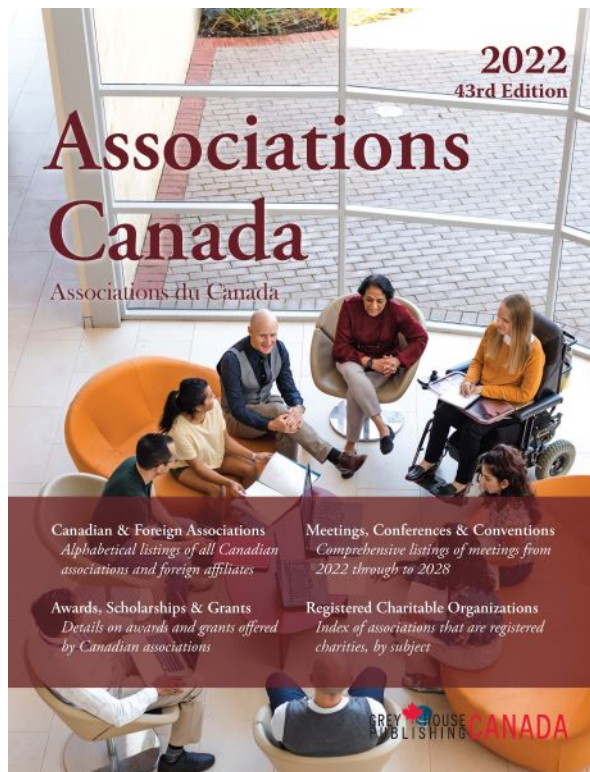

Business: Expand your network of contacts within your own industry across Canada or open contacts in new industries or markets. Discover important associations to become part of. This is the go-to source for meetings and publications filled with business-building information.

Career Searches: These associations are the first stop for building a great career-search strategy. What are the career opportunities within an industry? How much do they pay? What is their growth rate? What meetings and seminars are worth attending? Build knowledge and contacts that can lead to your next career step.

Journalism & Media: These are the must-have contacts for important fact-checking before publication, and for finding just the right source for an interview and insight into news development.

Charity Resources: Discover possible partners in environmental, health, and educational campaigns that can benefit from collaboration. Who can sponsor important fundraising events? Who has similar programs that can provide insights into building successful campaigns? Your guidance and contacts are right here.

Hospitality: Find out who's hosting what event, when and where! Check on events years in advance.
