There are 338 electoral districts in Canada. One representative from each riding is elected to sit in the House of Commons as a Member of Parliament.

68.3% of Canadians voted in the 2015 federal general election; the highest turnout since 1993.

The constitution states that elections must be held every five years, but traditionally they are held approximately every four.

Len Marchand was the first Member of Parliament of Indigenous origin, elected to the House of Commons in the 1968 general election. A record 10 Indigenous candidates were elected in the 2015 general election.