Canadian Environmental Resource Guide

“This large publication provides a variety of current information concerning environmental issues, statistics, leaders, agencies, and more within the nation of Canada... updated to provide the most current look at Canada’s overall environmental picture and includes, among other things, expanded listings, new charts, and a brand-new section profiling major environmental companies...

Rounding out the directory are four indexes: Subject, Geographic, Executive, and International Organization for Standardization (ISO), in addition to other helpful content, such as an abbreviations list, brief profiles of leading environmentalists, a translation key, and a general chronology of recent environmental events. Further information, such as a federal governments directory and an environmental resource guide, is available online. This substantial, well-organized volume is a necessity for those seeking environmental information on Canada.”
